FOREWORD

The pages of this, our 1960 Surveyor, represent an effort to portray, both pictorially and editorially, the student life of Mount Vernon High School.

For the molding of this volume the yearbook staff has tried to depict high school life by using the scenic background of our campus and that of the Mount Vernon Estate, on whose original property our Alma Mater now stands.

Our school song and our motto, "To Be, Not to Seem", have been used with the hope that you will become more conscious of the purpose for which this institution was founded—knowledge, honor, truth, and spirit.

The Surveyor Staff sincerely hopes that as you leaf through the following pages, now and in the future, you will recall worth-while experiences and renew your fondest memories.

We Sing To Thee. . .

"... The quiet walks,
The noisy fun,
The Groveton game we finally won
We will have these moments to remember.
Though summer turns to winter
And the present disappears,
The laughter we were glad to share
Will echo through the years..."

The Student Cooperative Association, the governing body of which every student is a member, consists of a Senate and a House of Representatives. The representative body is made up of an elected member from each homeroom; the senatorial body is composed of two Senators from each class. The Executive members are elected at the close of each school year and become officially active at the beginning of each school year.

This year the SCA undertook to revise the constitution; under the proposed system a council consisting of a balanced number of elected and appointed members will take the place of the cabinet and the senate. This system, it is hoped, will prove much more convenient and workable. The SCA shouldered the full responsibility of promoting and handling the magazine campaign and the publication of the Student Handbook. Also, a system for the co-ordination of the independent clubs was established to better intra-club relations. Funds were allocated to the Newspaper and the Yearbook and to other clubs as the need arose. One of the major accomplishments of the year was the pact with Mr. Landes to allow ice cream to return to the cafeteria.

The Surveyor Staff. . . .

The Club Section this year was planned and drawn up by a hard working staff consisting of Annie Mae Staton, Carol Bateman, Kathie Brewer, who is the editor of the section, and Candy Dilliard. The picture schedule for all class pictures as well as club pictures was handled by these hard-working girls.

Our Class Section had a rough job this year with the retakes but they finally met their deadline with much hard work and a few extra working sessions after school. Ann Vick, Patsy Allen, Judy Smith, and Ruth Roop, editor, make up this section.

This yearbook sales that took place during the beginning of the year reached an all-time high of one thousand books purchased by the student body.

This year, as in the past, the staff sponsored several elections which are a traditional part of our school life. Among these are Who's Who, Miss Mount Vernon, and Senior Spotlight.

The Surveyor is a member of the Virginia High School League, and the National Scholastic Press Association. The 1960 edition of the Surveyor will be entered in competition in the Southern Interscholastic Press Association which is held each summer at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia.

Janet Boone, the editor of the Features Section and her staff of Margie Bowman, Jimmie Sue Burt, and Carl Simmons did a very good job this year in tying in Mount Vernon Plantation with their section. Carl Simmons is officially our Copy Editor but helped with this section.

Our Sports Section, composed of Arnold Cash and Danny Wideman, editor, did a fine job of on-the-spot coverage of the sporting events. Discussing the arrival of new pictures is a frequent scene in the Yearbook room.

Arranging the ad for Belle View Shopping Center are Bill Stroble and Carol Cash, editor of the Ads Section. We reached a high goal in the sale of ads this year and sponsored a contest for those not on the staff.

The Surveyor Staff is composed of students who apply for membership to the staff; the applicants must then be recommended and approved by members of the faculty. The staff is divided accordingly into sections. Each being a body within itself and having a sectional editor at its head. At the end of each year the existing staff is responsible for placing members on each sectional staff and electing an editor-in-chief or co-editors for the coming year.

This year the staff began functioning the later part of the summer by soliciting throughout the community for advertisements, one means of attaining financial support. The actual work on the book began in September after some members of the staff attended the National Scholastic Press Association Convention in Washington, D.C.

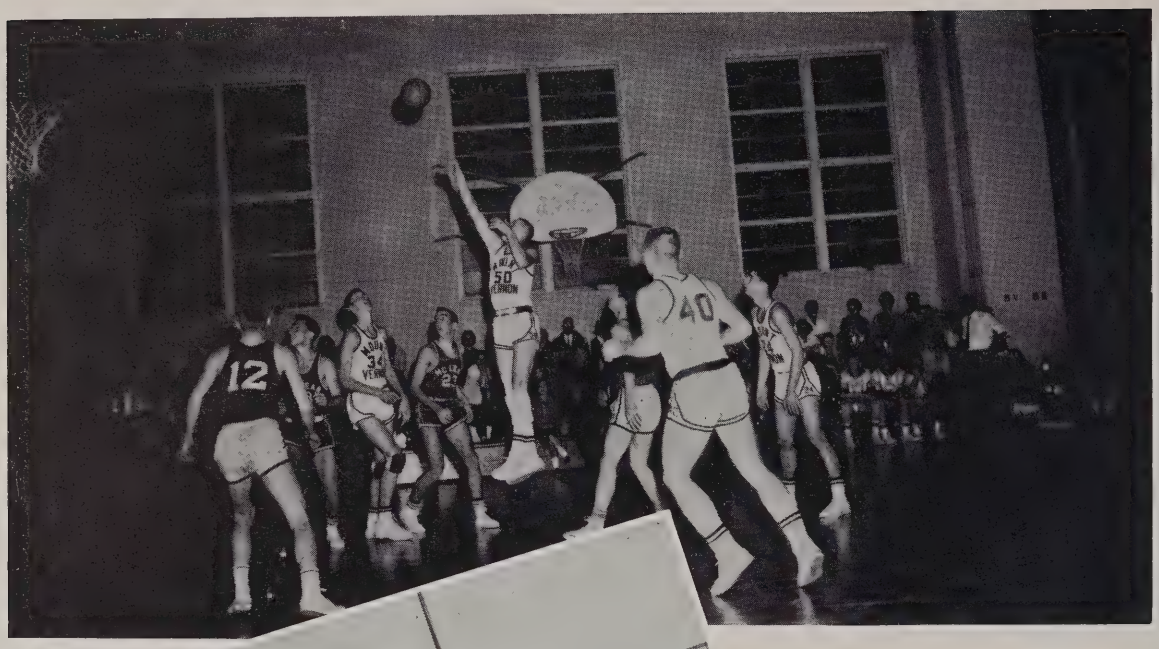
Your spirit and honor. . .



Man has always taken pride in the development of his body as well as his mind. Athletics are the practical means of making possible this frequently neglected manner of development. Even more important than this, however, is the creation of a sense of fair play that must be a fundamental part of every athletic program. Through keen sportsmanship the spirit of Mount Vernon was born. This spirit will live as long as we have enough pride to respect that for which it stands. Three cheers for the Maroon and Gray!

SUMMARY OF SEASON

With Coach Wilson Faris at the helm the Mount Vernon Majors opened the season with a bitter defeat at the hands of Wakefield. The following week Hammond High's Admirals sneaked by Mount Vernon Majors 7-0 when a 60 yard touchdown was nullified by a penalty. Mount Vernon highlighted their season with a victory over their archrivals, Groveton High. We evened our record the following week with an easy win over Falls Church. After losing to Fairfax, the Majors hit the .500 mark with a Homecoming victory over J. E. B. Stuart High and made it two in a row by downing the McLean Highlanders.

We experienced three losses during the season; to Annandale High, George Washington High, and Lee High. The season was ended with a 4-6 record.

The Junior Varsity team under a new coach, Mr. Jack Miller, vastly improved over their last year's record. They rounded out the season with a record of two wins, two losses and one tie.

Coached by Ted Colna, the Eighth Grade team finished the season with four wins and two losses, a commendable record for a new coach.

Both teams were avidly supported by its individual cheerleading squad. Each squad, selected by faculty members and Varsity Cheerleaders, helped spur the teams on to victory.

Teamwork produces

Our varsity team rewarded us with much to be proud of this year—a championship trophy to brighten our trophy case, a record of seventeen wins and three losses, the states' Group I leading scorer and a man on the state's first team, as well as, one on the second team for Group I schools.

Many long hours of practice after school, nights and holidays went into the moulding of our team this past season. Coach Mike Skinner can be credited for our outstanding record, for without his drive, spirit to win, and fair play among the boys we may not have been on top.

At the end of our regular game season we had piled up a total of 1297 points—an average of 64.85 points per game. Marty Lentz hit the basket for 604 points during the season with Tom Booterbaugh racking up a total of 178 points. In our encounter with Madison High, we scored the most points of the season hitting for a 96-29 mark. Even though we lost by only six points to Annandale in the Northern Virginia Tournament, we consider our boys a great aggregation. When the final whistle sounded on March 2, that was the end of high school ball for seniors Bud Rupert, Tom Booterbaugh and Bob Odom, but we feel sure there are many good things in store for all of them. Our hat's off to you our 1959-60 basketball team!

Steve Kendall grapples with an Annandale opponent.

Wrestling made its debut at Mount Vernon this year with thirty boys participating under the capable direction of Stanley Fant. The team was divided into twelve classes, the lowest weight class consisting of 95 pounders and the highest weight class consisting of heavyweights. The 95 pound class proved to be the most successful with a record of seven wins and one loss. The team record was four wins and four losses including only one loss in the county competition.

Most of the team members this year were underclassmen, which should mean that we have a good deal to look forward to in the 1960-61 season.

The team expects to wrestle a complete varsity schedule, participating in from 8 to 12 league matches. The boys also expect to participate in the first Annual Northern District Tournament.

Mount Vernon's Thinclads began their workout in the early spring, with forty-five hustling boys reporting for practice.

The first meet of the 1960 season was the George Washington Memorial Relays and our boys placed seventh out of the twenty-two schools represented.

There are five scheduled dual meets this season and we will have four relay teams entering the County Relays, Fairfax County Meet, Alexandria Relays and the Northern Virginia Meet.

Coach Snyder says he expects his boys to make a good showing in all events and that he is particularly impressed with high jump man, Bob Odom and sprinter, Steve Kendall.

Varsity Sluggers Compete

The Major "diamond men" could well be masters of the sport this season. Coach Yednock has many returning lettermen who form a nucleus, around which the team can function. Reports are that any opposing team can look for strong competition when they encounter our boys. We have in our favor a tremendous pitching staff comprised of Teddy Monroe, Barry Bowers, Vince Strayhorn, Bill Pacella and Pete King. Coach Yednock says Arnold Cash, Francis Cash, Frank Moser, Bill DeVor, Bod Odom and Art O'Neal can be depended upon for consistant hitting power. Assistant Coach Ted Colna, a new-comer to the coaching staff, is expected to prove very beneficial by coaching on the base paths.

Coach John Yednock, an instructor in Physical Education has returned to coaching status this year and is doing a tremendous job with the boys. Coach Yednock, an athlete himself, is a conscientious and hard-working person who spends many hours with the team.

Assistant Coach Ted Colna is a new-comer to Mount Vernon High, and has won the admiration of his students. He has a keen sense of sportsmanship and fair-play which he has instilled in all who have played for him.

acclaim for hockey teams

The varsity hockey team opened its season by outclassing Fairfax 5 to 1. In the second game of the season Groveton gave us a score but we finally won by a score of 2 to 1. Against Stuart we came out on top with a 4 to 0 score, and we won from the McLean Highlanders 3 to 0. Four goals in each half helped us swamp the Madison Hawks 8 to 0. The M. V. gals continued their winning streak by adding five more points against Falls Church, and a 3 to .0 win over Herndon. The first meeting between Lee and Mount Vernon found the Majors on top 2 to 0.

This game wrapped up the Northern Virginia Hockey Championship for the Majors.

In recognition of our championship, the Mount Vernon-Lee Sportsman Club honored us at a banquet.

A great honor was bestowed upon our team when we were invited to play an exhibition game with Sidwell Friends in the National Field Hockey Tournament in Washington.

Coach Newman

The Major Lassies had a successful season to their credit playing twelve games, winning nine and losing three. Their average per game was forty-six points. The hightest score for any one game was 63-37 against Madison High and our gals were the only team who defeated the undefeated McLean Highlanders. Liz Harvalik a senior and forward led the team by scoring 213 points, Carol Bugg also a senior and forward racked up 143 points while Becky Hannah a junior classman scored 134 points. This year we are losing three seniors, Liz Harvalik, Carol Bugg and Pam Watson.

Our girls spent many long hours working out on the court after school and in the evenings under the capable direction of Coach Newman which resulted in a fine spirit of co-operation, enthusiasm and good clean sportsmanship.

The Junior Varsity team under the tutelage of Coach Shumaker had a better than average record. These "Minor" lassies played twelve games and scored an average of 24.5 points per game. Caroline Cline boosted her team with a 103 point lead during the season and teammate Kathy Clark added to the record by dropping in 85 points while Missy Smith sank 64 points for the season. The J. V. team is comprised of girls from the eighth, ninth and tenth grades and have much to give to their Alma Mater for the next few years. Much can be expected from these enthusiastic gals—they produced for the team and school spirit was most prevalent wherever they traveled.

* Junior Varsity Season Begins

Promising Girl Athletes

Seventy-eight girls reported for try-outs for both the Junior Varsity and Varsity teams, and after several weeks of intensive training, thirteen girls were picked for the Varsity squad and fourteen for the Junior Varsity aggregation.

The Varsity team opened its season on April 7, against Annandale with an experienced group of girls, having lost only two games last season. Of the thirteen Varsity members only two are making their debut in the sport.

Both teams follow the same playing schedule, however, the Junior Varsity team did not open its season until April 21, at which time they played McLean. From all reports to date, we can expect a good showing from these hard-working girls; for team spirit and clean sportsmanship prevail in practice sessions and game competition.

Coach, Miss Newman

Humble and free. . .

From the earliest times men have lived in groups. Each group attempted to find ways by which the adult members before their death could teach their children all that had been learned in the past. Of course the purpose of these teachings was to help the children more readily solve problems which would arise in the future. The dependency of the untrained youth on the adults, already in possession of cultural inheritance, is the basis of all education. Hence, the result is our present day school system. Our four high school years, the most important years of our maturing period, we, as students, begin to realize that knowledge is the framework on which a civilization grows and prospers.

CLASSES

The Class of 1960

Alan Harris
President

The class of nineteen hundred and sixty has at last reached its ultimate goal—graduation. During previous years our teachers and faculty advisors have strived to train and prepare us for this major step in life. When we first traveled the hallowed halls of Mount Vernon as eighth graders, we were uncertain and overwhelmed at the new mode of life. As freshmen the pattern of school life showed more promise; however, there still remained the ever present feeling of seniority at which much awe and foreboding were displayed. Our sophomore year found us enveloped in college preparatory subjects and showed the formation of a desire for a more active role in extra-curricular activities. With the junior year a more serious outlook on life was developed. We began to accept more responsibility and showed an interest in the development of the school. The senior year approached without a full realization from us of what was expected and required. The talents used to decorate for the Sno-Ball, the endless time spent on Brigadoon and the many other activities—the effort used to promote a better Student Cooperative Association, proved our class to be one of the best to graduate from Mount Vernon High.

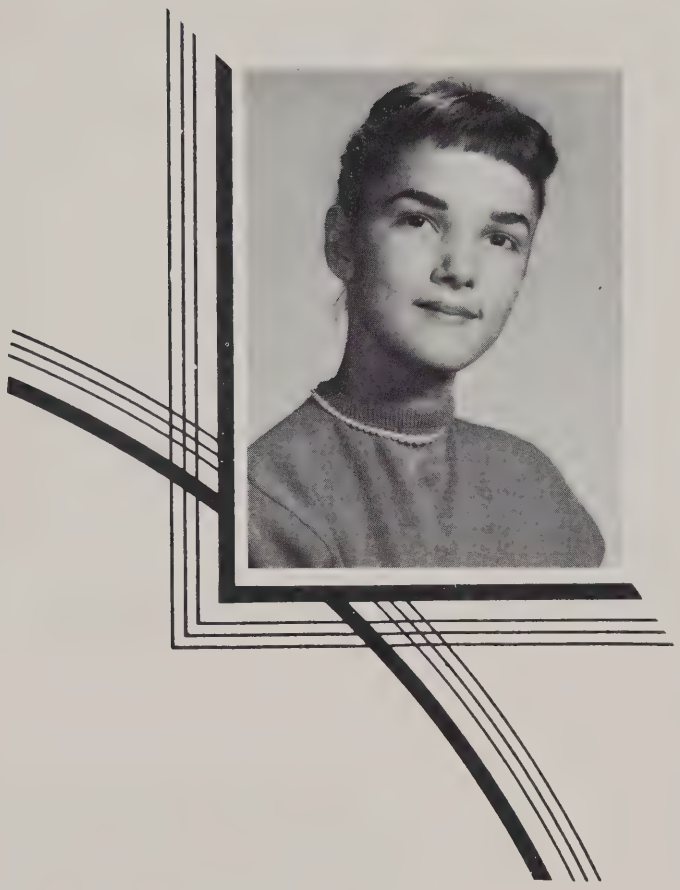
IN MEMORIAM. . . . . .



PATRICIA ANN RILEY

November 8, 1942 - June 15, 1959

A life has gone from among us—a life which was loved and respected by all who knew her. The memory of Pat will not soon fade, for her passing leaves a vacancy in the Senior Class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty which time can only partially fill.

She was our friend and classmate, one who took an active part in various activities and whose artistic ability was evident to all. Though saddened by her untimely passing, we can draw consolation from these words:

"There is no death,
The stars go down to rise upon some other shore,
And bright the heaven's jeweled crown,
They shine for evermore."

McCreery

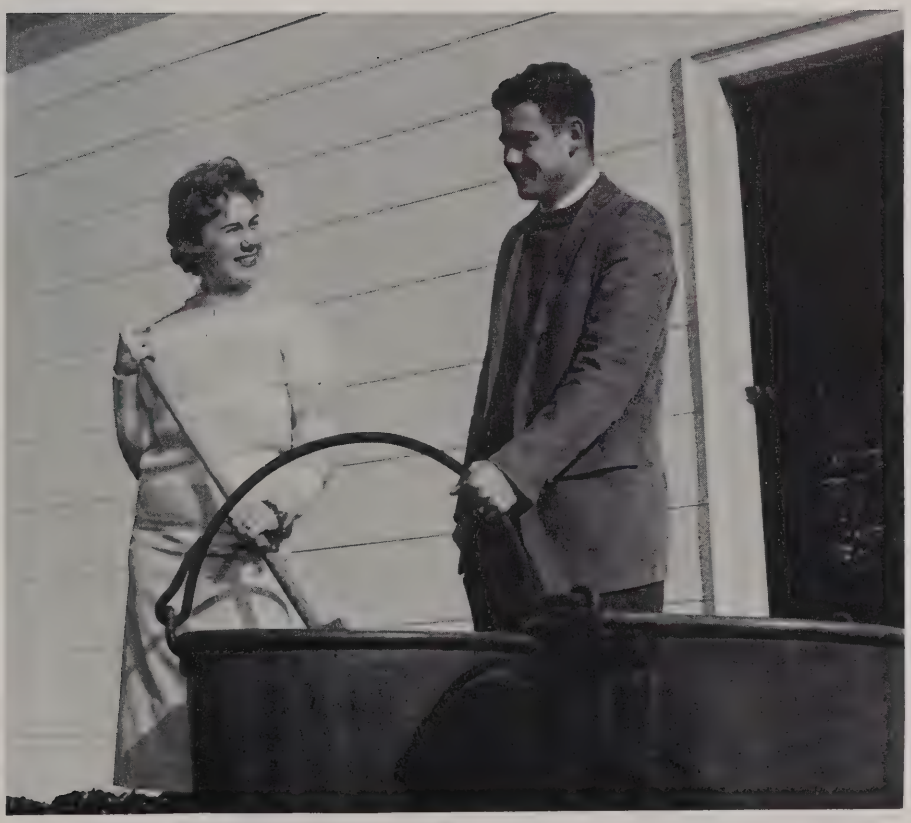
To the outstanding members of Judy Trost, editor of the Surveyor and Art O'Neal, President of the student Government were chosen by their fellow senior classmen as being outstanding leaders throughout their years at Mount Vernon. The bell at Mount Vernon Estate seems to Judy and Art a symbol of leadership.

Barbara Baker and Bill Strandberg were selected as those most likely to succeed. They find George Washington's desk, as well as some of the implements on it, interesting and different from those one might find today.

our Senior Class

The honor of being most studious in the Senior Class was bestowed upon Mike Weissman and Betsy Surovell, President and Vice-president of the Senior Honor Society respectively. The tiny schoolhouse in the corner of Mount Vernon's formal gardens seems a strange contrast to the classroom of today.



Judy Trost and Alan Harris, President of the Senior Class were those voted best all around. The tallow kettles in back of the laundry seem interesting to say the least to these two.

for their talents

Bud Rupert and Peggy Teeter, the best dressed boy and girl at Mount Vernon exchange their views on fashions. The breezeway at the side of Mount Vernon affords a bench where they can sit and talk.

Anne Vick and Jerry Dorsey, both important members of the "Brigadoon" cast were chosen as most talented. Anne visited Jerry to discuss script changes at the hospital where he was confined due to a recent illness.

Elizabeth Harvalik and Robert Odom, both participants in all major sports, were elected the most athletic. The bridles in the carrige house are interesting and a little ornate it seems to Liz and Bob.

Originality counts and when we come to Steven Kendall and Janet Dolozik, it abounds. Whether Janet is going to give Steven the book or hit him with it seems to be in question as they stand on the East porch of Mount Vernon.

The class of nineteen hundred sixty-one looks anxiously foreward to the senior year, anticipating new-found honor, privileges and hard work. We begin to fully realize the importance of our education as we are submitted to new tasks such as College Board Examination and scholarship tests.

This was an eventful year for the junior classmen—our first year at the Prom, our excitement while ordering and receiving class rings and finally officialy being deemed with the title of upperclassmen.

When we entered Mount Vernon this year as sophomores we had the feeling that we were finally attending a school in which we were an important part. Our classmates began accepting many extra-curricular responsibilities, as well as, developing a true respect for scholarship. We were beginning to feel like upperclassmen at last.

Although our Sophomore year held many triumphs and disappointments, we will meet a still more challenging test as we return next September as Juniors.

As the future class of nineteen hundred sixty-thr we spent a well-filled year in the hallowed halls of c M.V. We learned that it was rather important to get class on time, for one reason or another, or that t Majors were capable of beating Groveton when a trop was involved, and each of us made a vow never harrass the eighth grade. We began to understand wh $x + y = z$, and how and why the Constitution w written. We envied the hurried, excited life of the Senio and wished for the time when we would take their place And so it is—next year we will return as sophomor and then in time we shall also wear the robes of di tinction.

The Class of 1964

In the years to come the class of nineteen hundred and sixty-four will grow and progress into the leaders of tomorrow. Soon the newness of high school will wear off and these hustling youngsters begin to realize the seriousness of the world of knowledge. As eighth graders there are many things we looked forward to: the opportunity of supporting and participating in the athletic program, the games we beat Groveton by a single touchdown or basket, our first English theme, the Prom, honors and privileges which come as upperclassmen, and finally a long awaited, rather sadly anticipated graduation.

This year the eighth grade consisted of approximately 482 students and because of the limited space in our high school, a portion of that number attended Waynewood Elementary for three of their six subjects. Many of the more ambitious students began the school year by taking part in a particular sport, the chorus, cheerleaders, dramatics and other organizations around the school such as the Pep Club.

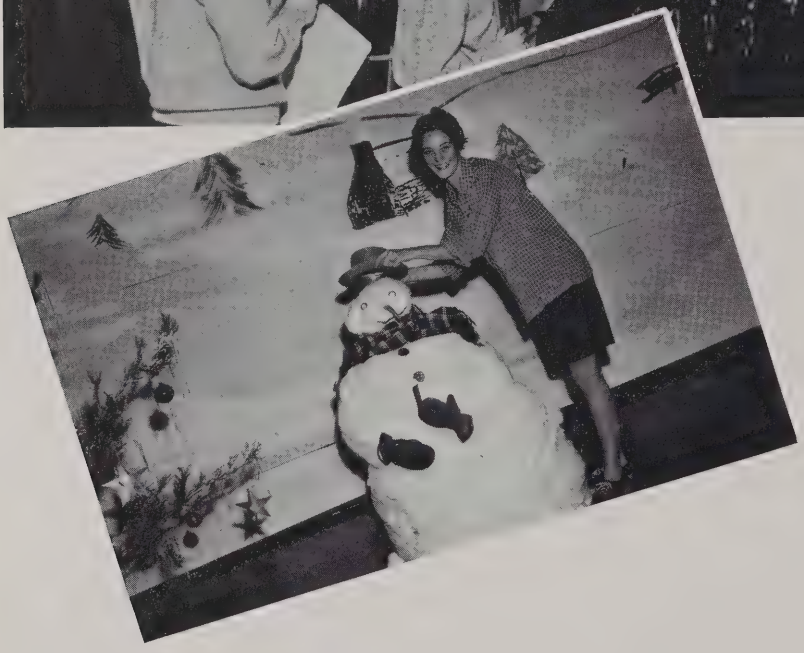
"Man from outer space!" is the center of attention in Mrs. Harder's eighth grade science class.

The smallest comes from the eighth grade while the tallest is a sophomore. Dennis Rockford and Corliss Saylor "measure" in with Mrs. McQueen.

This science class looks quite interested as they begin a study of clouds.

Our Praise to thee we sing. . .



Wherever people assemble, a fortunate few of that assembled number are recognized for one outstanding quality or another. Furthermore the congregation of ambitious, energetic students must result in an act of some sort—and in this section we recall these activities and pay tribute to those who justly deserve recognition. It is well to recall that honor can be achieved only through conscientious effort.

Sweet music sets the mood of dream dancing at the Sno-Ball.

Starting the Christmas season off right, we found ourselves attending the annual Sno-Ball.

Dreaming and dancing in the winter ski-lodge setting was highlighted by the coronation of Miss Mount Vernon and the introduction of her court.

Terry Able, Junior Princess, and Betty Murphy, Senior Princess, and their escorts are announced while the other contestants await the results.

Alice Hall, candidate for Miss Mount Vernon, and her date Jon Gallo take a break before the crowning.

The Varsity cheerleaders increase Major spirits.

The Bonfire burns brightly in all its splendor.

Groveton . . . a name that inspires a feeling of rivalry and a profound desire for victory. Our spirit was aroused as the Tiger, our arch enemy, vanished in a cloud of smoke the night before the anxiously awaited game with Groveton. Approximately three to four thousand people were said to have witnessed the skirmish from which the Majors emerged victorious.

Micky Skinner, Janet Boone, Annie Mae Staton, and Gail Glenn support the Tiger before his execution.

Art O'Neal hopes to diminish Groveton's strength by killing the Tiger.

Many pooled talents and hard work. . .

Bill DeVor, as Tommy, and Sandy Spinks, as Fiona, embrace before Tommy leaves Brigadoon.

Wally Stevens and Jeff Miller, as Harry and Maggie, dance in MacConnachy Square.

Charlie Dalrymple, Phil Bruce, declares to the married men of Brigadoon that he will soon join their ranks.

Under the expert direction of Miss Louise Hopkins and Miss Mildred Messick, the Choral and Dramatics Departments presented Brigadoon.

The setting of this famous musical comedy is the quaint little village of Brigadoon, deep in the highlands of Scotland. Two young men from New York, Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas, discover the village by accident one day while hunting. They find customs and dress common to an eighteenth century setting, and they learn that Brigadoon comes into being for only one day in each century.

Angus MacGuffie, Andy Garverick, and Stuart Dalrymple, Harry Mahon, sing as the men of Brigadoon look at the body of Harry Beaton.

Anne Vick as Meg Brocki holds her male audience enchanted as she tells them of "Her Mother's Wedding Day".

. . . to present our musical, Brigadoon

Harry Beaton startles the villagers as he does the age-old sword dance.

Harry must be caught before he can leave Brigadoon, for if he leaves, Brigadoon will vanish forever. Angus tells Duke Karns that they must "run and get him."

Tommy meets lovely Fiona MacLaren and although he has been in Brigadoon but for one day they discover they love each other. The story is complicated by the fact that Harry Beaton finds the girl he loves, Jean MacLaren, is going to marry Charlie Dalrymple. Harry tries to leave Brigadoon, thus he will destroy it. As he is fleeing from the pursuing villagers he trips and is killed by his own hand.

Tommy returns to New York and although he tries to forget Fiona, he cannot. He returns to Brigadoon to the disdain of Jeff—and marries Fiona—and true to form, they live happily ever after.

Charlie Dalrymple and his new wife Jean, Suzie Brown, seem more than happy as they dance at their wedding.

The villagers of Brigadoon join in a joyful dance.

Maggie kicks high in a spirited dance at the Fair at MacConnachy Square.

And this we will

The first day of schooi! New faces, teachers, and friends greeted us as we walked down forgotten halls. The excitement lasted until finally we returned to the old grind: long hours of work.

How could anyone forget our basketball team? we took the county championship and placed second in the Northern Virginia Group I. Our star player was Marty Lentz. As we cheered the Majors on to victory, we also cheered Marty on until he broke the record for the number of points scored in one game, broke his own record with 53 points against Madison and finally, in our last game, he broke the record for the number of points scored in a season.

The Senior Honor Society, as a service to the students and as a money-making project, established the Book Store. We were able to purchase books for English, history, and science from a selection of more than two hundred books.

A gigantic clean-up campaign was launched during January. A deal was made with our principal, Mr. Landes: if we kept the cafeteria clean, ice-cream would be returned to the cafeteria. Due to the efforts of all students, we soon had ice-cream served with our lunches.

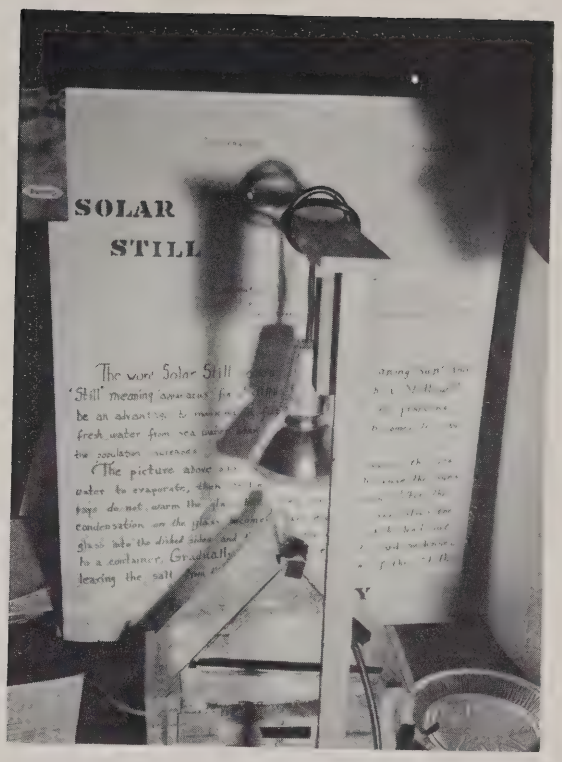
We began something new this year on a trial basis, sock hops following the home football and basketball games. These dances were extremely successful and they provided a new source of income for the clubs.



During February all students were urged to participate in the Science Fair. The library was transformed into a huge exhibit hall. Scientists from Fort Belvoir came to judge the exhibits. The winners entered the Northern Virginia Science Fair held at Annandale High School.

Twirp Week was initiated last year by the newspaper staff and was looked forward to again this year. At this time of the year, the girls are given a chance to pursue their male by taking over the date-making and providing the favorite finances.

And finally came our Prom. We looked forward to the Prom and as it approached, excitement mounted. The Presidential Arms Hotel Ballroom provided an excellent setting for the biggest dance of the year.

Your bells of truth shall ring. . .

Scholarship is very properly the most important side of high school life. But there are many other activities without which a high school could not fulfill its ultimate goal of presenting a well-balanced education. From participation in these extra-curricular activities the student gains an added sense of responsibility which is a decided advantage in life after graduation. And more valuable than all else is the association and friendships among students who have similar interests and purposes.

ORGANIZATIONS

Honor Societies lead the school

National Honor Society members spent a busy and eventful year. One of the major tasks of the year was that of raising money to increase the scholarship fund. The scholarship will be awarded to a deserving senior who needs financial help—the senior need not necessarily be a member of the Honor Society. One means of acquiring money was the operation of a bookstore where paper bound editions of approved literature were sold. Ball point pens were also sold as another way of acquiring needed funds.

The tutoring service was again offered to students who were in need of additional coaching. These after school sessions were held only with the approval of the classroom teacher and the honor society.

The Honor Rolls each six weeks were prepared by Honor Society members and were displayed in the glass case in the main hall. The club sponsored a sock hop and also sent delegates to two area conventions.

Claire Golihew, President, and Mr. Higgison, Sponsor, discuss work.

In the past year in the Junior Honor Society, our efforts have been concentrated on money-making activities. We sponsored a sock hop after one of the basketball games. We planned on establishing a fund to pay for college entrance exams. Another goal was to conduct interesting meetings and to obtain the regular attendance of all members.

At the beginning of the year we elected Mr. Higgison as our sponsor and, along with the Senior Honor Society, sponsored a "College Night".

Our high stepping twirlers spent many practice hours devising and perfecting new routines for half time shows at football games. Catchy music and costumes were used for "Rock Around the Clock", "When the Saints Go Marching In", "The Old Gray Mare", "Old Mac Donald", and a Cowboy routine. Clara Moore our drum major usually performed during half time using lighted batons.

Extra curricular activities that we enjoyed were performing in the George Washington Birthday parade in Alexandria, which is an annual event in Northern Virginia, appearing on the Milt Grant show, station WTTG TV in Washington D. C., sponsoring a dance and attending a week of baton twirling school at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Last May was an eventful month to be remembered by our alma mater, for this was the birthdate of our first Drill Team. Recruits were taken from the entire student body and a reduction of forces was necessary due to the overwhelming enthusiasm of the girls. The summer days proved to be long tireless days for the forty-eight who were to be the center of attraction at all our home football games.

Jan Crabtree and Carol Cash are the Co-Captains who led these fancy stepping girls to a highly successful and eventful season.

To create and promote good spirit and sportsmanship was the primary purpose of the Pep Club. To foster these principles, car caravans and busses to away games were provided, tag sales on special days were launched by club members and pep rallies and bon fires were held with large attendance. The Art Department cooperated immensely and helped with suitable posters which were displayed around the halls of our school. Many new cheers secured by our cheerleaders and in turn were taught to the student body—and the highlight of the year was the float that was built by Pep Club members and made its debut at the half-time show of the Homecoming game. The club is to be commended for its excellent participation and interest throughout the school year and the fostering of good clean sportsmanship among spectators and students.

Our Dramatics Club spent a busy year—many hours of work, sweat and tears went into the production of "Brigadoon" which was acclaimed, by all who attended, to be an outstanding piece of work by both actors and directors. The club also produced "The Lottery" and a cutting from "Midsummers Night's Dream". A three act play was the highlight of the spring season. Throughout the school year approximately sixty short plays and scenes from various plays were produced during school hours. Many members of the club attended other school plays in Washington. During the spring a play writing contest was open to the student body and the two winning plays were produced by the Dramatics Club.

Serving coffee and doughnuts to the faculty two mornings during National Education week was one of the highlights of the Future Teachers Club this past session. At this time each teacher and administration was presented a red felt tag with National Education week printed on it which was to be worn for the entire week. Later in the school year the club honored the faculty with an after school tea.

The purposes of the club are to develop interest in the teaching profession, to promote professional leadership, to acquaint prospective teachers with the local, state, and national teaching organizations, to prepare its members in every possible way for the teaching profession, and to develop desirable qualities in its members in order that they may be good leaders in the field of education.

Five girls were sent to Roanoke to represent Mount Vernon at the annual state convention and six girls attended the county meeting at Lee High. In March we visited George Washington University in order to get an idea of college and campus life. One of our social functions of the year was the party given for Sue Wallace who left us to journey to France.

Being a library assistant means many responsibilities, which includes charging out books and teaching materials, shelving returned books, writing over-due notices and processing new books.

Any period during the school day that you visit our library you can observe the busy activity which always is present. Housed in our library are 11,250 books, which includes all types—fiction, autobiographies, biographies, as well as reference books. This school year over five hundred new books have been added to the collection. We subscribe to eighty magazines and seven newspapers.

The library assistants are voluntary student workers who render invaluable service to the student body. There are usually five students per period and each is assigned duties on a rotation basis.

The Latin Club, as in past years, was formed in order to further the interests of Latin students. Many of our activities consisted of various money making schemes. One project was the sale of Mount Vernon scarves. We also sponsored a Valentine Sock Hop.

One of the highlights of the year was the Roman Banquet which was held in our cafeteria. The banquet was held in true Roman fashion and those who attended were dressed as Romans. The food was prepared and eaten in Roman style and we reclined on mats which were made to look like couches.

The Latin Club of Mount Vernon is a member of the Junior Classical League, which is affiliated with the American Classical League, a nation wide organization for Latin Club members. A convention was held and members from our club attended.

Hola! Como estas? A familiar greeting among the Spanish speaking students who had a busy and fun-filled year. Highlighting the year was a trip to Clifford Gates' home for a Mexican meal which consisted of Tacos, Spanish Rice, Frijoles and Colcs and, we also went to the El Mexico restaurant in Washington.

Several club members furnished slides from the various Spanish speaking countries. Some of which were Spain, Costa Rica, Peru and Boliva. At Christmas time we joined the other foreign language clubs in a party.

One of the most interesting groups we had was composed of the Spanish speaking students known as "Los Charlatanes", who met at the homes of various club members and conversed entirely in the Spanish Language.

Talk-talk-talk; That's all you hear about the place, especially when the Debate Club is practicing. This year the resolution concerned governmental control of trade unions. In the beginning of the year, we did not know what a trade union was; now we are trying to decide whether to be Senators and control these institutions or become union organizers and present to Congress the true face of labor.

As usual, we had a heavy year of practice and tournament debates, and though our membership was entirely "green"—all of our veterans having left for college or Europe—we did hold our own, winning our share of the matches. In February we shone at the University of Virginia's Conference for Debators, and we closed the year with a round of social events—from which we barred all thoughts of Congress and of Labor.

There was a bit of trouble this year getting the boys to turn out for the various Forensics activities, they were so bashful; but the girls—our timid maidens—were not half so reluctant, and—as usual—the competition between them was rife. There were so many good performances, the judges often found it most difficult to make a final decision.

Our school has always been strong in the regional and State tournaments, and this year, too, Mt. Vernon will have to be the school to beat if one hopes to win a first place trophy. The various categories of the Forensics are Spelling, Poetry Reading, Prose Reading, and Public Speaking.

Students attend their regular classes and leave school at 12:30 P.M. each day to fulfill their part time job, where they are required to work a minimum of fifteen hours a week.

Monthly meetings were held at the Penn Daw Restaurant and at the February meeting Mr. Palmer, president of the Mount Vernon Kiwanis, spoke on the aims and purpose of the Kiwanis Clubs. For their November project the club sponsored its annual food and toy drive and a weiner roast was held at Hallowing Point in October. Also in October, Mayor Benheim cooperated in the participation of "Careers in Retailing" over WPIK.

On March 15: the club motored to Baltimore, Md., where they were conducted on a tour through the Montgomery-Ward mail order house. April 18-22, Jerry Dorsey, president of our club and vice president of the D.E. Clubs of Virginia, attended the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. The annual Employer-Employee Banquet was held in the Walnut Room at Thompson's Restaurant. As a means of showing their cooperation and consideration in the D.E. program, employers were honored guests at the event.

The State Convention, held in June, was attended by two students from our D.E. Club.

Vocational Office Training has just completed its second year here at Mount Vernon. Learning how to use automatic calculators, transcribing machines, the touch system on a ten key adding machine and the duplicating machines are most important in the moulding of our future.

This year there were many varied types of jobs filled by our classmates. Donna Colyer was employed by John P. Parrish Law Firm, Melinda Dillingham worked as a stenographer for Kay Franc-Ross Jewelers, Diana Fraley was a girl Friday for Special Services at Fort Belvoir as did Marjorie Green. Martha Knight was on the move after several weeks her employers realized how important their work was and she was replaced by full time girls, Martha worked for the State Rehibilation Office, Wellington Realty and finished the year at Independent Mutual Fire Insurance Company; Judy Maddox traveled each day to the Pentagon where she was employed by the General Accounting office and Eloise Turner worked for Joe Heishman's sports car dealer. Susie Miller had the opportunity of working for Bish Plumbing and Heating and reported that her tasks were quite varied. Anthony Petrini was employed at Fort Belvoir and Herby's. Connie Belknap, Jeanne Hanson and Doris Taylor were the non-workers in the class.

Mount Vernon, Mount Vernon

In the ever-changing currents of high school life the indispensible factor is, of course, the administrator and the teacher. In the classroom knowledge passes from the learned to the learner and a completely new and personal path of thought and outlook is developed. Man's mind is the most fasinating and intricate device in creation, therefore, in molding the minds of the great mathematicians and literary experts of the future, sound judgment and wide vision is required. We salute you, Faculty, in the hope that your efforts will result in the leading citizen, business administrator, and politician of tomorrow.

The final rush to our homeward-bound chariots is always filled with laughter and hurried good-byes.

We sing.
When other nights and other days
We find us gone our separate ways,
We will have these moments to remember.
